Core Ideas:

Philanthropic, charitable, and entrepreneurial organizations play distinctly different but vitally important roles in supporting the interests of local and global communities.

The potential for building and using personal wealth includes responsibility to the broader community and an understanding of the legal rights and responsibilities of being a good citizen.

There are reasons and consequences to taking on debt.

There are ways to evaluate loans and their impact on one's personal financial plan.

Borrowers have rights and responsibilities.

Negative information in credit reports can affect a person's credit score and financial options.

Building and maintaining a good credit history is a process.

Debt reduces net worth.

There are ways to ensure that your credit is protected, and information is accurate.

Tax rates vary based on your financial situation.

There are different ways you can influence government policy to improve your financial situation.

There are agencies, laws, and resources to protect you as a consumer.

There are ways to manage your accounts that provide you with maximum benefits and protection.
There are factors you can use to select financial institutions and professionals that are best suited for your needs.
To be fiscally responsible, an individual's finances should align with his or her values and goals.
Biological behavioral biases, psychology, and unconscious beliefs affect financial decision-making.
The ability to assess external information is a necessary skill to make informed decisions aligned to one's goals.
There are ways to align your investments with your personal financial goals.
A budget may need to be modified as an individual's career, financial goals (e.g., education, home ownership, retirement), and/or other life situations change.
Money management requires understanding of cash flow systems and business practices.
A person's tolerance for investment risk can change depending on factors such as life circumstances, financial goals, and economic conditions.
Different types of insurance have different costs and protections.
There are strategies to improve one's professional value and marketability. Career planning requires purposeful planning based on research, self-knowledge, and informed choices.

An individual's income and benefit needs and financial plan can change over time.

Securing an income involves an understanding of the costs and time in preparing for a career field, interview and negotiation skills, job searches, resume development, prior experience, and vesting and retirement plans.

Understanding income involves an analysis of payroll taxes, deductions and earned benefits.

There are ways to assess a business's feasibility and risk and to align it with an individual's financial goals.

With a growth mindset, failure is an important part of success.

Innovative ideas or innovation can lead to career opportunities.

Collaboration with individuals with diverse experiences can aid in the problem-solving process, particularly for global issues where diverse solutions are needed.

Laws govern the use of intellectual property and there are legal consequences to utilizing or sharing another's original works without permission or appropriate credit.

Laws govern many aspects of computing, such as privacy, data, property, information, and identity. These laws can have beneficial and harmful effects, such as expediting or delaying advancements in computing and protecting or infringing upon people's rights.

Cultivating online reputations for employers and academia requires separating private and professional digital identities.

Digital communities influence many aspects of society, especially the workforce. The increased connectivity between people in different cultures and different career fields have changed the nature, content, and responsibilities of many careers.

Network connectivity and computing capability extended to objects, sensors and everyday items not normally considered computers allows these devices to generate, exchange, and consume data with minimal human intervention.

Technologies such as Artificial Intelligence (AI) and blockchain can help minimize the effect of climate change.

Solutions to the problems faced by a global society require the contribution of individuals with different points of view and experiences.

Advanced search techniques can be used with digital and media resources to locate information and to check the credibility and the expertise of sources to answer questions, solve problems, and inform the decision-making.

Digital tools such as artificial intelligence, image enhancement and analysis, and sophisticated computer modeling and simulation creates new types of information that may have profound effects on society. These new types of information must be evaluated carefully.

For members of our society to participate productively, information needs to be shared accurately and ethically.

Accurate information may help in making valuable and ethical choices. Media have embedded values and points of view.

Digital tools differ in features, capacities, and styles. Knowledge of different digital tools is helpful in selecting the best tool for a given task.

Collaborative digital tools can be used to access, record and share different viewpoints and to collect and tabulate the views of groups of people.

Career Readiness, Life Literacies, & Key Skills Practices

- Act as a responsible and contributing community member and employee.
- Students understand the obligations and responsibilities of being a member of a community, and they demonstrate this understanding every day through their interactions with others. They are conscientious of the impacts of their decisions on others and the environment around them. They think about the near-term and long-term consequences of their actions and seek to act in ways that contribute to the betterment of their teams, families, community, and workplace. They are reliable and consistent in going beyond the minimum expectation and in participating in activities that serve the greater good.
- Attend to financial well-being.
- Students take regular action to contribute to their personal financial well-being, understanding that personal financial security provides the peace of mind required to contribute more fully to their own career success.
- Consider the environmental, social, and economic impacts of decisions.
- Students understand the interrelated nature of their actions and regularly make decisions that positively impact and/or mitigate negative impact on other people, organization, and the environment. They are aware of and utilize new technologies, understandings, procedures, materials, and regulations affecting the nature of their work as it relates to the impact on the social condition, the environment, and the profitability of the organization.
- Demonstrate creativity and innovation.
- Students regularly think of ideas that solve problems in new and different ways, and they contribute those ideas in a useful and productive manner to improve their organization. They can consider unconventional ideas and suggestions as solutions to issues, tasks, or problems, and they discern which ideas and suggestions will add greatest value. They seek new methods, practices, and ideas from a variety of sources and seek to apply those ideas to their own workplace. They act on their ideas and understand how to bring innovation to an organization.

- Utilize critical thinking to make sense of problems and persevere in solving them.
- Students readily recognize problems in the workplace, understand the nature of the problem, and devise effective plans to solve the problem. They are aware of problems when they occur and take action quickly to address the problem; they thoughtfully investigate the root cause of the problem prior to introducing solutions. They carefully consider the options to solve the problem. Once a solution is agreed upon, they follow through to ensure the problem is solved, whether through their own actions or the actions of others.
- Model integrity, ethical leadership, and effective management.
- Students consistently act in ways that align personal and community-held ideals and principles while employing strategies to positively influence others in the workplace. They have a clear understanding of integrity and act on this understanding in every decision. They use a variety of means to positively impact the directions and actions of a team or organization, and they apply insights into human behavior to change others' actions, attitudes and/or beliefs. They recognize the near-term and long-term effects that management's actions and attitudes can have on productivity, morals, and organizational culture.
- Plan education and career paths aligned to personal goals.
- Students take personal ownership of their own education and career goals, and they regularly act on a plan to attain these goals. They understand their own career interests, preferences, goals, and requirements. They have perspective regarding the pathways available to them and the time, effort, experience, and other requirements to pursue each, including a path of entrepreneurship. They recognize the value of each step in the education and experiential process, and they recognize that nearly all career paths require ongoing education and experience. They seek counselors, mentors, and other experts to assist in the planning and execution of career and personal goals.
- Use technology to enhance productivity increase collaboration and communicate effectively.
- Students find and maximize the productive value of existing and new technology to accomplish workplace tasks and solve workplace problems. They are flexible and adaptive in acquiring new technology. They are proficient with ubiquitous technology applications. They understand the inherent risks-personal and organizational-of technology applications, and they take actions to prevent or mitigate these risks.
- Work productively in teams while using cultural/global competence.
- Students positively contribute to every team, whether formal or informal. They apply an awareness of cultural differences to avoid barriers to productive and positive interaction. They find ways to increase the engagement and contribution of all team members. They plan and facilitate effective team meetings.
